Getting to the Museum

- Museum is approximately 1 mile from the town centre on foot, there is a slight uphill walk.
- Museum is approximately 1.5 miles from the East Coast Main Line Station in Darlington.
- There is a rail connection from Darlington Station on the Bishop Auckland Branch Line to North Road Station adjacent to the museum, this is an infrequent service. Please note that North Road Station is not accessible for wheelchair users and those who would find a large step between train and platform difficult to manage. The access to the station is stepped.
- There are frequent bus services from the town centre travelling up North Road passing McNay Street 300m from the museum.
- There are a number of taxi companies within the town centre adjacent to the market square. If you require a wheelchair accessible taxi, it is recommended to book one in advance. There are several providers and their numbers are listed at the end of this document.
