Welcome to One Darlington

I work for Cummins which is very proud to be a major employer in Darlington and our employees are committed to working with residents to enhance and improve the borough. Cummins support us, as staff, to help build better communities, focusing on creating healthy communities, a better environment, education and equal opportunities.

As an active member of Darlington Cares, our staff have volunteered hundreds of hours to support community projects.

Working with residents, me and my colleagues have helped breathe new life into Eastbourne Park. The old bowling pavilion has been transformed into a community hub and café, which attracts people throughout the week to meet friends, enjoy a hot meal and learn new skills.

We are continuing to make improvements and will help with the general upkeep of the park to ensure that it remains a real asset to everyone living in the area.

The theme of Cummins' centenary celebrations is "challenge the impossible" and we hope to continue to work with people in Darlington to make the impossible possible in local communities.

As Darlington Business Week approaches, you can find out more about what Darlington Cares and local businesses are achieving outside the boardroom on pages 10 and 11.

Working in Eastbourne Park and other areas of the town has made me more aware than ever about fly tipping and littering. Find out what the council is doing to clampdown on this anti-social behaviour on pages 16 and 17.

The amazing art work on the front cover of this edition of One Darlington was created by students at Haughton Academy and is reflected in the talent of two local artists featured on page 8. It's great to see so much local talent capturing everything great that Darlington has to offer.

The students' work depicts the borough's main landmarks, many of which are in the town centre. You can have your say on what the town centre has to offer and how you would like to see it develop as part of the council's town centre strategy consultation. Turn to page 9 to find out how you can join in the discussion.

I hope you enjoy this edition and if you get the chance to visit Eastbourne Park or get involved in Darlington Cares regular Pick, Pie and a Pint litter picks please do. We all have a responsibility to work together to make our town the best it can be.

children have just started school in Darlington this September, a memory making moment for many families across our borough.

Darlington is

miles from Land's End and only miles from John o' Groats making us almost exactly halfway from one tip of the UK to the other. No wonder people say we are perfectly placed!

447

About
106,000

people live in Darlington, that's more than the capacity of Wembley stadium!

Our oldest church is now an incredible years old! St Andrews in Haughton was built around 1125, just 58 years before St Cuthbert's in the town centre.

It is 194 years since the Darlington to Stockton railway opened, not long now until we will be celebrating the 200th anniversary!

At the last count there were more than places to eat out in our town centre – a fantastic choice!

We've just played host to the

ENJOY DARLINGTON

Did you
enjoy Darlington
this summer?

The ever popular Festival of Ingenuity attracted a staggering 13,000 people in July and families enjoyed soaring temperatures at the start of Darlington by the Sea. Markets, live music, Darlington Pride and the 10k road race all helped to attract record numbers of people to events in the town this summer. Chart-topper Jess Glynne put Darlington on the musical map and new attractions like the Drum Festival and Mish Mash family music event went down a storm with the crowds too.

Bag a prize with Enjoy Darlington

There's so much to enjoy in Darlington and we're delighted to offer you the chance to win a goody bag showcasing the best of what the town has to offer.

From the Hippodrome to the Dolphin Centre, town centre shops to the Head of Steam and a fantastic range of bars and restaurants, you're never stuck for something to do. We've got together with some of these great businesses to offer five Enjoy Darlington goody bags up for grabs.

The first entry randomly drawn after the closing date will win an Enjoy Darlington canvas bag, a family ticket for this year's panto Jack and the Beanstalk at the Hippodrome, an annual family pass for Head of Steam with some museum goodies, a swim voucher and gym pass for the Dolphin Centre and a framed Monte Darlo poster from the Poster Parlour. The next four entries drawn will each win an Enjoy Darlington canvas bag with vouchers for the Dolphin Centre and Head of Steam.

For your chance to win, tell us the three things a visitor to Darlington would most enjoy. Email communications@darlington.gov.uk or write to Enjoy Darlington Competition, Communications Team, Room 106, Town Hall, Feethams, Darlington DL1 5QT. Entries must be received by Friday 11 October 2019.

local artists in the frame

There's lots to enjoy in Darlington, from independent shops, bars, restaurants, markets and events, to a thriving arts and culture scene. We talk to two artists who combine their creative talent with a love of the town.

Self-taught urban artist Lucas Roy has seen his hobby flourish into an online business. The 31-year-old dad of two said: "I am Darlington born and bred and proud of my town. I've always had an artistic eye and have used art as an escape from the stress of my work. I've experimented with many mediums and received lots of requests from friends.

"I am influenced by an urban/street art style which can send a message and add colour to people's lives."

Lucas, who narrowly missed out on appearing on the BBC's Big Painting Challenge, shows his work on Facebook (@lucasroyartwork) and Instagram. As his business grows, Lucas will be selling his work online.

Inspired by 20th century vintage travel posters, Jonny Lancaster designs fresh contemporary prints based on popular North East locations. Jonny aims to capture the beauty of the places on our doorstep and have fun with the region's landmarks and dialect.

Jonny said: "Two of my most successful prints are the 'Monte Darlo' and 'Meet me under the town clock'. If you've lived in Darlington, you've probably arranged to meet someone under our famous timekeeper and chances are you've referred to the town as Monte Darlo!"

His work is available in The Art Shop on Bondgate or on Instagram and Facebook (@theposterparlour).

Jonny also runs a relaxed monthly life drawing group, Lust For Life Drawing, with his wife, Grace. Sessions take place in venues around the town. Artists of all abilities are welcome. See Instagram and Facebook (@lustforlifedrawing) for more details.

The artwork on the front cover of this issue were created by talented students from Haughton Academy. A big thank you to them for letting us showcase their work!

DARLINGTON
TOWN CENTRE STRATEGY
2019 -2030

Now is the time to have your say on how the town centre can be improved over the next ten years.

We are collecting views on the town centre strategy, which sets out the intended development plans for the next decade.

The strategy was approved by the council's cabinet in July and now we are gathering feedback from those living and working in the town to make sure the ideas and plans put forward in the strategy are the right ones.

In recent years there have been huge changes in shopping habits and lifestyle, so the role town centres play in our lives has to change. Moving with the times and responding to change is necessary to make sure our town continues to thrive into the future.

The strategy aims to improve the attractiveness of the town centre, celebrate our heritage, support economic growth, improve health and wellbeing and make Darlington a great place to live, work and visit.

Four main areas of the town have been identified for the majority of the development work: the indoor market, Skinnergate and the Yards, Northgate and Crown Street.

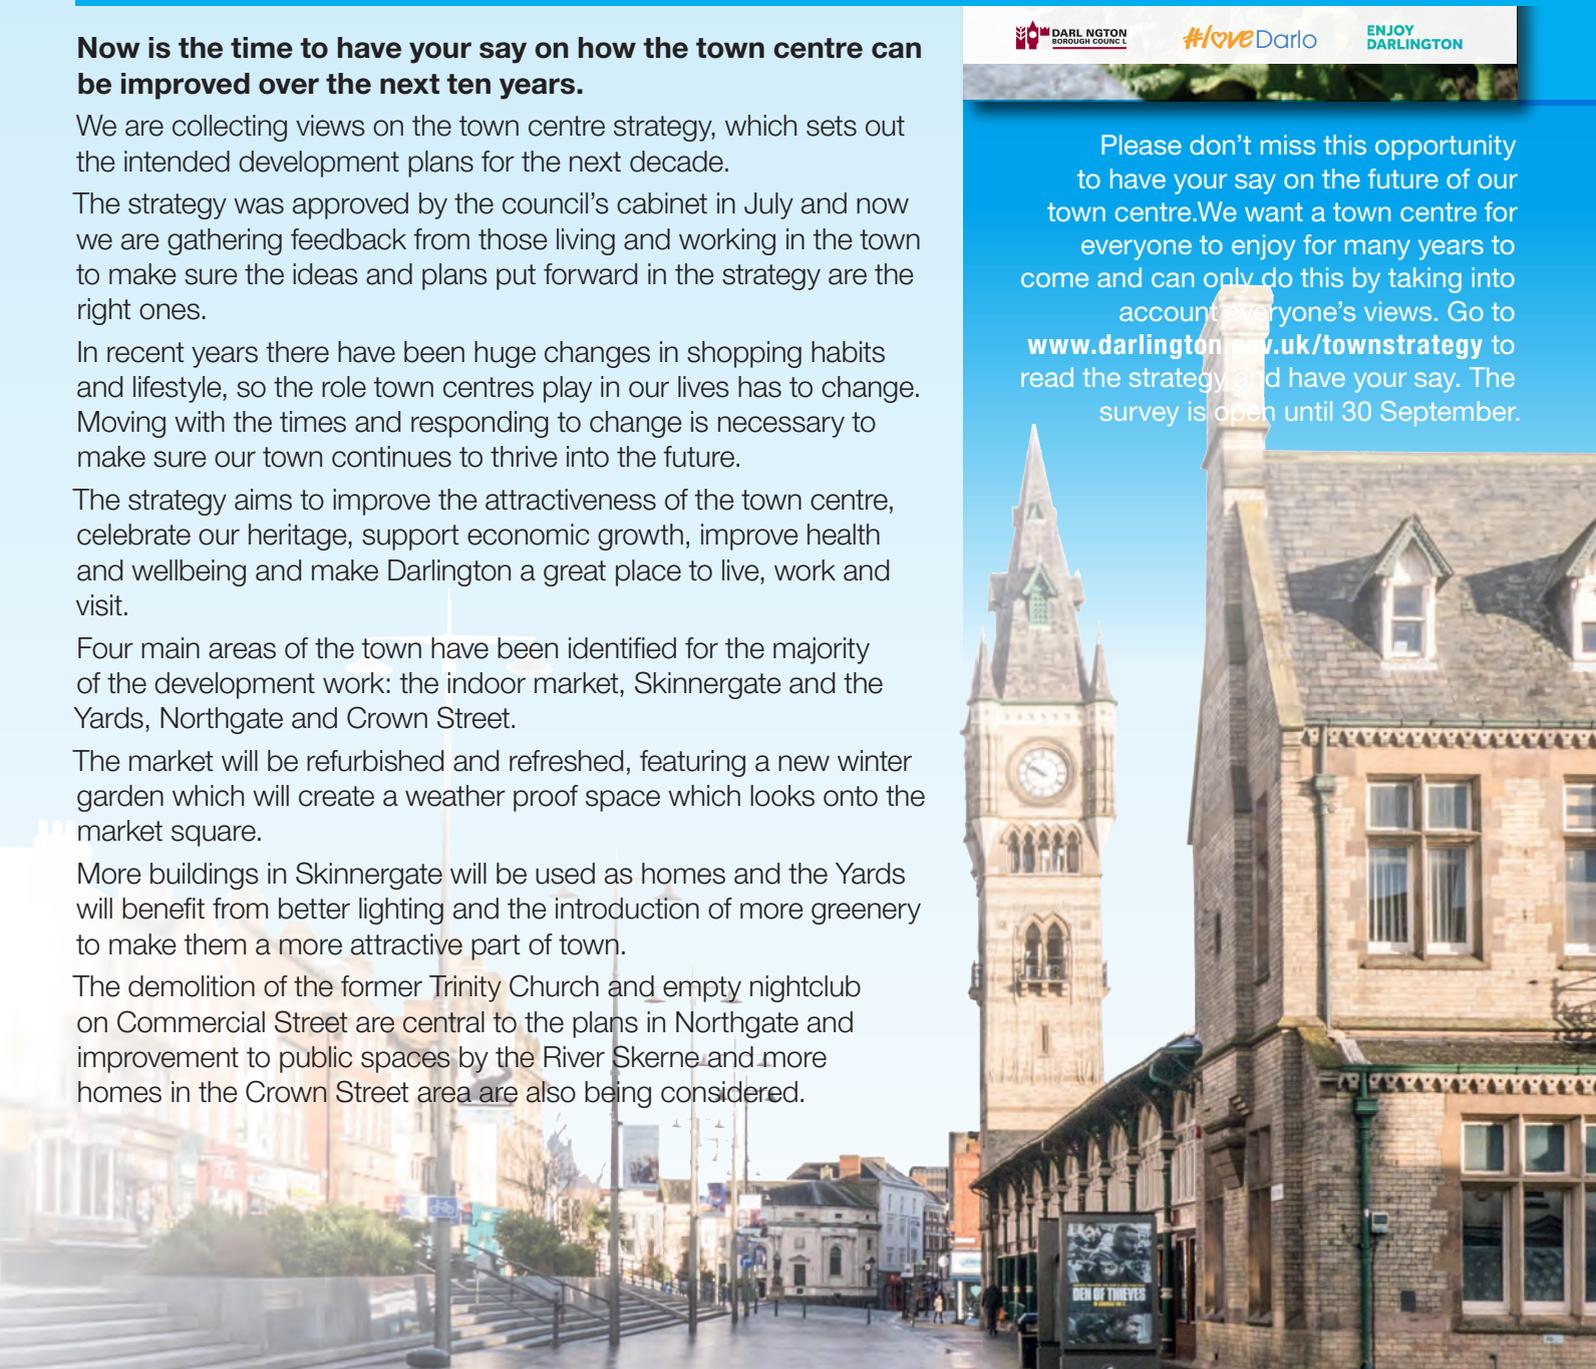

The market will be refurbished and refreshed, featuring a new winter garden which will create a weather proof space which looks onto the market square.

More buildings in Skinnergate will be used as homes and the Yards will benefit from better lighting and the introduction of more greenery to make them a more attractive part of town.

The demolition of the former Trinity Church and empty nightclub on Commercial Street are central to the plans in Northgate and improvement to public spaces by the River Skerne and more homes in the Crown Street area are also being considered.

Please don't miss this opportunity to have your say on the future of our town centre. We want a town centre for everyone to enjoy for many years to come and can only do this by taking into account everyone's views. Go to www.darlington.gov.uk/townstrategy to read the strategy and have your say. The survey is open until 30 September.

Caring enough to make

Being part of Darlington Cares is helping these major employers

Cummins is celebrating its centenary as a global leader in engine manufacture this year – and its commitment to Darlington is also historic, having opened its plant here in 1965. The company encourages its staff to volunteer their talents for the good of the local community. In the past year, staff have spent more than 2,000 hours helping to improve Eastbourne Park, with special attention paid to the bowling green and turning the pavilion into a café. Staff also won a global impact award for their work on STEM projects in schools, and their support of the Festival of Ingenuity. Meanwhile, the Cummins Foundation continues to give grants to a range of worthy causes.

Darlington Building Society has remained true to its local roots for more than 160 years. The society's ethos is built on a pledge to invest five per cent of its profits into local causes. This equated to £80,000 in the last financial year, benefitting 88 organisations and 19,060 people. On top of this, staff spent 111 days volunteering in the community, spending 272 hours volunteering in North Leazes Park. DBS was also the main supporter of the Festival of Ingenuity, which helped to showcase local companies and career opportunities for young people.

change is in the air...

We are working towards a cleaner, healthier environment for all our staff, patients and visitors. From 1st October 2019 all our sites will be smoke free zones.

SMOKE FREE 2019
#SmokefreeCDDFT

If you need help quitting call:
County Durham: 0800 772 0565
Darlington: 0800 802 1850

Why is CDDFT going smoke free?

Smoking is the leading cause of premature death in the UK. Exposure to secondhand smoke also causes disease and premature death among non-smokers and even brief exposure can cause immediate harm. As an NHS organisation, we have a duty to protect and care for both the health and wellbeing of our staff and patients who are particularly vulnerable to the harmful effects of tobacco smoke. Going smoke free reflects our commitment and responsibility for improving health and wellbeing.

How will staff support patients who smoke?

We know that lots of smokers want support to stop and that refraining from smoking can be very difficult. Smokers are four times more likely to stop smoking with NHS support and the use of nicotine replacement. Patients who are admitted to one of our hospitals will be offered medication/nicotine replacement therapy (NRT) in the form of patches and inhalator, as well as a referral for ongoing support. We will also provide advice on how and where to access services and support to stop smoking for those attending as outpatients.

What are e-cigarettes?

E-cigarettes are devices that deliver nicotine via inhaled vapour. They do not contain tobacco, so the user is not exposed to poisonous gases that are in tobacco smoke and are reported to be up to 95% less harmful than cigarettes. E-cigarettes do not expose others to the harmful effects associated with second hand smoke. The trust allows the use of e-cigarettes in the grounds but not inside of buildings. These devices work well on their own or can be used alongside NRT. Having support from a trained stop smoking advisor alongside the use of NRT and/or e-cigarettes greatly increases your chances of success in quitting.

You're welcome to join us at a smoke free event on Thursday 17 October, 5.45-7.30pm in the lecture theatre at Darlington Memorial Hospital, Hollyhurst Road.

This will be a chance to hear about what smoke free means for patients, visitors and staff and the support we will be offering. It is also an opportunity for us to listen to your views on our plans to become smoke free.

Inspiring our with swimm

Sarah-Jayne Sams, swimming instructor

“I have been a swimming instructor for 20 years and I find it very rewarding. Seeing children progress from being nervous and scared right the way up to being confident to swim on their own, being a competitive swimmer or even becoming a lifeguard. I actually taught seven of the Dolphin Centre lifeguards how to swim – which makes me feel old!”

“I think everyone should have the opportunity to learn to swim. No-one should be scared of the water – we live on an island after all so you are never too far away from water!”

“It’s all about safety. I want to make sure no one feels in danger in water. I know from personal experience what it feels like not to be able to get out of the water and relying on someone to come and help you. I was in the sea with a friend when I was 14 and she got caught in a rip tide. I had done my rookie lifeguard training so went to help her and managed to push her to safety but then I got caught in the rip tide myself and had to be rescued by the lifeguard. From then on I vowed that’s what I wanted to do – to make sure everyone has a fighting chance to get out of the water, whatever happens.

“I am big into water safety but try to make it fun for people of all ages. I teach babies from nine weeks old up to my oldest pupil who is 99! I am a firm believer that anyone can learn to swim – all it takes is practice and patience. Everyone should have the opportunity to learn to swim. It’s never too late to learn a skill that could save your life!”

In the last issue, we introduced you to lollipop lady Trisha English, who has been helping Darlington youngsters get to school safely for more than 15 years.

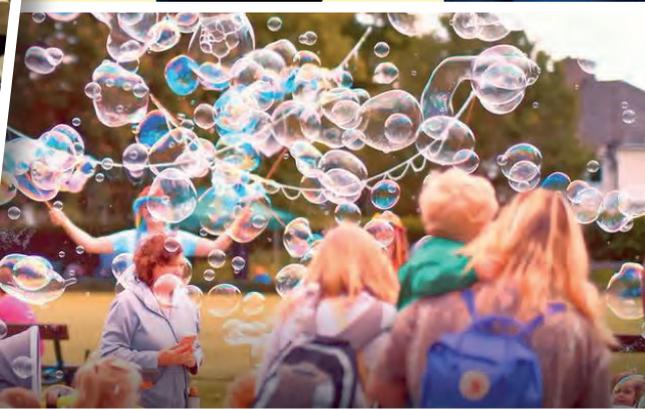

For the latest instalment of our #50Faces series, in which we profile some of the council's unsung heroes, we meet three more people who make a huge difference to children's lives.

Suzy Hill and Laura Pattison, library events team

r children ing and song!

“I started at the library back in 2008 and Laura joined me in 2017. As a team we put on sessions and events for families to enjoy and try to encourage reading in the home and book borrowing.

“Our Rhymetime sessions are very popular, with about 170 under-fours attending each week for stories, songs and rhymes. We hold weekly Lego clubs for children of all ages every Saturday and provide large scale events such as BookFest, Bookstart in the Park and Harry Potter Night.

“The libraries hosted 60 events this summer for children aged up to 16. There was everything from magicians to storytelling, planetarium experiences and animation workshops.

“We love our job, we get to meet so many amazing families and share wonderful experiences with them.”

Environmental - don't add to What is environmental crime?

Environmental crime covers a wide range of offences that have a real impact on our town and people's lives.

They include littering (including throwing rubbish from a vehicle), fly tipping, dog fouling, fly posting, graffiti, nuisance parking and abandoned vehicles.

Fines

As part of our ongoing battle to tackle environmental crime we are increasing fines (called Fixed Penalty Notices) from October 1. Fines will also apply to a wider range of offences.

The fine for littering will increase from £75 to £150 and fly tippers will face a £400 fine.

Fines are issued by civic enforcement officers and there is often a discount offered for prompt payment, but if you don't pay the fine you will be taken to court.

In some cases, such as large fly tips, organised crime and persistent offences, we will not issue a fine and will take court action straight away.

There's a full list of the fines and what they cover on our website.

Your waste - your responsibility

Fly tipping is a growing problem in Darlington, costing us around £1.18m a year to clean up.

Many people add to the problem without meaning to, but there are some simple steps you can take:

- Don't leave extra bags or other items next to your bin, on the street or in a back alley. This is fly tipping and you could be fined
- You can get rid of larger items for free at the Household Waste Recycling Centre or we can come and pick them up from you for a small fee
- Don't leave scrap (such as old washing machines) on your drive or in the street for someone to collect - if they are not a registered waste collector and they dump your items you could be held responsible and fined
- If you pay someone to collect your rubbish, ask to see their waste carrier licence, take their address and telephone number and make a note of the vehicle used; ask for a receipt which includes the business details.

You can check with the Environment Agency if a company has a licence by searching 'waste register' online or call 03708 506506. If you use an unregistered company and your waste gets dumped, you could be held responsible and fined.

Tell us what matters to you!

TALK TO US – that’s the message from Darlington neighbourhood inspector Chris Knox. The neighbourhood policing team is keen to hear from residents across the borough about what’s concerning you and what you feel is important for the police to tackle where you live.

Chris said: “We obviously take calls every day from people across Darlington who are reporting specific crimes or incidents and we respond to those, but what we are after is a more ongoing, general conversation with people. I want people to talk to my officers when they are out and about and share their concerns or niggles about what’s going on in their area. This will help us to understand our communities which means we can deliver the best possible policing service to the people of Darlington.

“All of my teams have recently been brushing up their skills at our confidence academy. This is a training event to give officers new ideas about getting the most from interactions with communities and developing their own skills to help them make the most of every opportunity when they are out and about talking to people.

“I have four sergeants in my team, each has a responsibility for a different part of the borough. Please talk to them and their teams and, if you’re interested, sign up for your local electronic newsletter by dropping your local sergeant an email.”

Please don’t use email to report crime. In an emergency, dial 999.

Change a child's future

DENISE'S STORY

I've fostered children for 20 years, and in that time, I've cared for over 30 children. Becoming a foster carer was the best decision I've ever made, and I'm so glad I changed from my previous job as a bank manager.

My favourite thing about being a foster carer is that I can make a difference. I began my journey to keep two brothers together, and I keep in touch with my previous foster kids to see how they're getting on.

You don't need to be 'special' to do what I do - anyone can, especially with the help of the amazing fostering team. So, if you're thinking of fostering, just do it!

Denise Henri

Becoming a foster carer or supported lodgings provider is one of the most rewarding things you can do. The power to change a child's future is in your hands, and with our help, it couldn't be easier.

When fostering or providing supported lodgings with us, you help local children achieve the best future possible. Help will always be on hand, both financially and from our fantastic social workers.

Anyone can help change a child's future – you just need room in your heart and a spare room in your home. Babies, children and teenagers need your love, care, and support.

Change a child's future – foster with us

For more information, including frequently asked questions, visit www.darlington.gov.uk/fostering email fostering@darlington.gov.uk or call 406222.

Information meetings are held at Central House Annex, Gladstone Street, DL3 6JX, from 6-7pm on the first Monday of every month.

Sessions will be held on Mondays 7 October and 4 November.

On the roads...

There's been lots going on to improve our roads. Here's just some of the work we've been busy with:

Repairing 103 roads between 1 April and 31 August - more than 11 miles of road!

Fixing unexpected issues, like the sewer collapse on Grange Road.

Repairing streets so they are pothole free for winter.

Maintaining nine of our busiest roads, including Carmel, McMullen and Victoria.

Opening Parkgate Bridge to pedestrians and cyclists'.

Completing improvement work on McMullen Road roundabout.

The road ahead...

Over the next few months we'll be busy:

- Changing Haughton Road throughabout to a roundabout
- Creating a new footpath and cycleway in Allington Way
- Improving Victoria Road near the train station
- Maintenance on Whinfield Road and School Aycliffe Lane.

New partnership

Arrangements for safeguarding children and vulnerable adults have been refreshed. The council is no longer the single lead for co-ordinating safeguarding arrangements. Three organisations – the council, Durham Constabulary and Darlington Clinical Commissioning Group – now have joint and equal responsibility, under the name Darlington Safeguarding Partnership. The new arrangements will be closely monitored to ensure they are delivering what is needed.

Awards night

Nominations have now closed for the first ever #LoveDarlo awards. The event, which will be held at the Hippodrome on 17 November, is aimed at recognising and rewarding businesses in the town. The ceremony will celebrate those retailers, bars, restaurants, market traders, cafes and leisure venues which play such a vital role in making Darlington a great place for shopping, socialising and having fun. Find out more at www.enjoydarlington.co.uk/love-darlo-awards

Hungry Little Minds

The government has launched a three-year campaign encouraging parents and carers to help children's communication, language and literacy development. The campaign aims to show parents the massive impact they have on their child's learning. Reading, playing and chatting with children are simple ways to help them develop, even when they are too young to reply. For more information, visit hungrylittleminds.campaign.gov.uk

Office building taking shape

Work is now well underway on the £8.5 million Feethams House office complex in the town centre.

On the site of the old Beaumont Street car park, the building has been funded by the council, Tees Valley Combined Authority and the European Regional Development Fund.

The five storey 3,900sq m building is expected to provide accommodation for small and medium businesses in the professional services, digital and creative fields.

The development will include open space for the public to enjoy, with the building attracting office workers who can take advantage of the town centre's cafes, bars, and shops.

The building is expected to be complete by next spring.

We're celebrating awards success

A range of council services have earned the seal of approval in various national awards in the past year – and more recognition could be on the horizon.

The council has been nominated in various categories of the Association for Public Service Excellence (APSE) awards, which are due to be presented this month.

As well as being one of ten authorities shortlisted for best overall council for service delivery, the council is also nominated in three other categories, including best health and wellbeing initiative for the Healthy New Towns project.

In 2016, Darlington was chosen as one of ten destinations across the country for the NHS England pilot project. The council led on Healthy New Towns along with other public and private sector organisations.

Meanwhile, the multi-million pound Hippodrome regeneration project, which also saw the creation of children's theatre the Hullabaloo, has a string of accolades to its name.

Elsewhere, the council's new-build housing programme was named best social housing initiative in the Municipal Journal's local government awards 2019.

Poppy success

The 2018/19 British Legion poppy appeal in Darlington raised £80,587.76. Thank you to everyone who donated and the volunteers who gave their time, especially Pat Stoddart who is stepping down after ten years of organising the borough's collection. If you are interested in helping the 2019/20 appeal email darlington.secretary@rbl.community

Homework club

Secondary school pupils are benefiting from a new homework club run by Darlington Cares and Darlington Building Society. Volunteers visit Longfield Academy to support 11 to 13-year-olds with homework and other subjects such as managing money, while Nando's provides food to help boost concentration levels. It is hoped the scheme will be expanded to other schools. For more details visit www.darlingtoncares.co.uk

Online help for young people

Kooth.com is a free, online counselling service for young people aged 11-18 years. It gives anonymous advice and support on wellbeing issues including bullying, anxiety and family problems. Counsellors run a free, live online chat service and young people can also connect with their peers through monitored forums. To find out more visit www.kooth.com

Fundraising praise

St Teresa's Hospice has received more than £9,000 thanks to the fundraising efforts of staff and customers at Sainsbury's, Victoria Road.

Customers and staff voted to support the hospice, on Woodlands Road for a year and following a range of fundraising activities and generous donations, the store raised £9,675.26.

Sainsbury's community ambassador Marie Steward said: "Although our 12 month adoption has now officially ended we will still keep our close association with the hospice, supplying them with fresh flowers every day and donating Easter Eggs and Christmas presents for tombola and raffle prizes." The store has also pledged 150 days of volunteer support to the hospice to mark its 150th birthday.

Harriet makes a splash

A talented swimmer has set her sights on further success after winning two silver medals at the recent British championships.

Harriet Rogers, from Darlington Amateur Swimming Club (DASC), learnt to swim at the Dolphin Centre pool and still trains there with the club.

She qualified for the finals in Glasgow, in the 15-year-old age group, winning silver medals in the 50m and 100m freestyle and missing out on gold in the 50m by just 0.07 seconds.

DASC head coach Glen Fenby said: "Over the years, Harriet has progressed through the squads to become the most successful swimmer at DASC of the last decade.

"Her attitude, determination and hard work have brought her well-deserved success at national level.

"She is also an excellent role model for other young swimmers in the club to aspire to."

Darlington Harriers won the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service

Club coach and development officer Paul Cook receives the award from Sue Snowdon

Both pictures: Karen Harland

Darlington Harriers Athletic Club has been honoured for supporting countless good causes over the years.

The club was founded in 1891 and has more than 400 members – ranging from eight to 84! The club has helped develop professional and Olympic athletes. All levels of ability are welcome.

Two members of the club were among the guests invited to Buckingham Palace for a garden party in honour of the recipients of the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service. The Lord Lieutenant of County Durham, Sue Snowdon, presented the award to the club at a local ceremony in recognition of everyone's contribution.

Well done, Harriers – you are this edition's Move More Stars!

Training sessions are held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, usually at Eastbourne Sports Complex.

The club also runs a couch to 5k group aimed at beginners. For more information, visit www.darlingtonharriers.co.uk or find the club on Facebook.

Bids open for community project funding

Do you know of a project or good cause in the Bank Top and Lascelles area which needs funding?

A total of £35,000 is up for grabs, with residents and organisations invited to bid for up to £7,500 for their project.

The best ideas will be invited to take part in a Dragons Den style event at Cleveland Bridge Social Club on 16 November, where they will compete to convince the audience to support them.

A vote will then be held to choose which projects will receive funding.

Entry forms are available from Firthmoor police station, the community hub in Eastbourne Park or the TEAM – Working Together for Bank Top and Lascelles page on Facebook.

For more details, or to request an entry form, email jeffrey.summerhill@durham.pnn.police.uk or wendy.newall@darlington.gov.uk

The closing date for applications is 30 September.

“I’m more than £90 a week better off thanks to DarloMillions!”

Brian, 60, who has suffered a brain injury, lives on his own. After a recent renewal claim, Brian’s personal independence payment (PIP) daily living award was reduced by more than £30 per week, which hit him really hard.

“My brain injury limits what I can do and I was really struggling to pay my bills. A friend told me about DarloMillions. Although I didn’t hold out much hope, I thought there was no harm in checking if I was owed anything.

“I was introduced to Angela from Citizens Advice Darlington who works with brain injury survival charity Headway Darlington. She looked at my case, advised me to appeal against the reduction to my financial payment, helped me gather evidence and draft an appeal letter.

“Within three months, my payment was fully restored and I was awarded an additional, higher rate. I also found out I didn’t have to pay road tax. I am now £90.15 per week better off due to DarloMillions and Angela’s support.”

Almost £2m has been paid to residents since the start of the DarloMillions campaign – there’s still about £24m to be paid to people who need it. Are you, or someone you know, owed money?

Some disabled people who lost out when they had to move to Universal Credit can claim compensation. Does this apply to you or someone you know? Check at darlingtoncab.co.uk/Initiatives/darlo-millions

It's official - Teesside International Airport is back and it's set to take off for people and businesses across the region!

Just over a month ago, I was delighted to reveal that we had officially changed the name of our airport back to the one we all know, love and use. I also unveiled the new clean, modern branding which had been created in-house, with our local residents in mind.

In a poll last year, the people had overwhelmingly spoken, with 93% of those asked supporting my plan to change the name as part of plans to return the airport to its former glory. I know personally that many of those are Darlington residents who have long championed our airport and know the success it can be.

For the first time in 15 years, passengers are flying into Teesside International with a renewed sense of place, and flying out with pride.

That's not all. It's all well and good giving the airport a new name, but I've frequently said this alone won't turn its fortunes around. We need to focus on the quality and frequency of flights for both leisure and business, and you can see some of the airport's latest developments on the opposite page.

Of course, there is still lots to be done and our 10-Year Rescue Plan will significantly grow passenger numbers, attract new routes, support onsite and local businesses and draw new companies to the airport site.

In the short-term, we're aiming to have all references to Durham Tees Valley Airport removed by the end of the year. Going forward, we're still aiming to secure a low-cost airline in the near future and are doing everything we can to secure even more popular routes.

With the airport's new attitude cemented by its new name, there's nothing stopping Teesside International now.

Worldwide from Teesside

The airport's twice-daily KLM flights to the award-winning Schiphol airport in Amsterdam opens us up to more than 200 destinations around the world. With many Darlington residents being a short drive away – if not within walking distance – you could be in New York in next to no time.

Flying direct may sound appealing, but once you've battled through the traffic to Newcastle, Manchester or Leeds Bradford, making sure you've got enough time to check in and get through security, hours are added to the journey. Flying from Teesside is faster, less stressful and you're supporting the region and our local jobs.

New York

Poolside from Teesside

Next year, for the first time in seven years, you'll once again be able to fly from Teesside to Palma, Majorca. The UK's most popular summer holiday destination will be served by the airport every Sunday from July 19 for ten weeks, the height of the summer season.

The company behind the flights, JetsGo, is seeing the potential in what we're doing and backing our airport by putting on these great value summer packages. These are available to book now by visiting www.jetsgoholidays.com

Balkan Holidays this year operated a weekly service to Bourgas in Bulgaria, taking in popular beach resorts such as Sunny Beach, Nessebar and Golden Sands. These breaks may be coming to an end for this year on September 14, but that isn't the end of the offers.

Thanks to the tremendous take-up of trips this year, the firm has already committed to a 2020 season of summer packages. They can also be booked now by visiting www.balkanholidays.com

Celebrating the work of our emergency services SUPERHEROES!

Thousands of people enjoyed the fourth annual Celebration of Superheroes organised by the Police, Crime and Victims' Commissioner Ron Hogg.

Representatives from the police, fire service and other community safety services were at the event at Locomotion in Shildon. They spent time chatting to residents and showed off some of the equipment they use in their day-to-day work.

Ron said: "This annual event is now a firm family favourite. My plan of bringing the event forward for better weather certainly paid off. It was a glorious day, with lots of activities on offer and a great turnout.

"Lots of the work that organisations do isn't seen by everyone so this is an important way for us to show the hidden things and bust lots of myths as to how and why we do things."

More than 50 exhibitors were on hand including Teesdale and Weardale Search and Mountain Rescue, police dogs Jet and Ben, HM Coastguard and Highways England along with many community and voluntary organisations who support the work of the public services.

The event was supported by Durham police cadets who competed in a range of activities to be crowned the winners of the annual Ron Hogg Cadet Cup, presented by Ellen Terry, the Young Police, Crime and Victims' Commissioner.

Award for history group

The efforts of members of Haughton Historical Society were rewarded when they won one of the chairman's awards at this year's Best of Darlington awards. Carol Atkinson, from the group, along with numerous volunteers, worked together on the Haughton Remembers project to help honour the memory of the 32 local men who died during the First World War.

A four-day exhibition at Haughton Methodist Chapel featured more than 1,000 knitted poppies draped down the building. Inside, there were pictures, stories and memorabilia on each of the men along with accounts from those who survived the conflict. Students from Haughton Academy created artwork for the exhibition.

Council Leader's Column

Darlington is a proud market town and I am delighted that the planning application has finally been submitted to transform the historic market hall, following the consultation on the ambitious plans which were overwhelmingly supported by traders and residents. We are still consulting on plans to reinvigorate the rest of the town centre.

You can find out more on page 9 and I would encourage everyone to give their views. We have been awarded £150,000 from the government to put forward a plan for more town centre funding and I am confident we will be able to present a compelling case for making a positive change, ensuring the town centre is at the heart of the community for years to come.

Our new community safety team is already having an impact around the town, especially in relation to fly tipping and littering. On pages 16 and 17 you can read about increases to fines which I hope will go some way to discouraging the minority of people who continue to spoil the local environment for the rest of us.

I am sure you agree that the flowers and planting around the town centre has been exceptional this year. I would like to thank those people and businesses who were involved in our Northumbria in Bloom entry – we will find out the result in the next few weeks, so fingers crossed! I am confident, as a local authority, we will continue to use common sense to support those who want to do their bit to make our town more attractive for everyone.

Thinking about the environment, we are setting up a cross party group to take forward our ambitions for reducing the impact of climate change as well as taking action to cut the amount of plastic we use as a local authority in all of our activities.

Since the last edition of One Darlington, we have held, and supported, many events in the town centre and I have been delighted to see so many people enjoying what's on offer. There are more events planned in the coming months and you can read about some of them on page 6 and 7. It is great to see so many people supporting the town and I hope everyone gets involved in the forthcoming events.

Finally a quick word about our roads – we are out there mending pot holes and refurbishing some of the most heavily used routes around the town. I know this work can sometimes cause delays but I hope you see we are doing everything we can to improve the road network.

In the last edition I talked about making our communication simpler and more transparent. I hope that you are beginning to see a difference and it is becoming clearer what we do as a local authority on your behalf. As part of this we are planning to move our cabinet meetings to locations around the town, rather than always being in the Town Hall. The first one is at Firthmoor Community Centre on Tuesday 10 September and anyone is welcome to come along. Cabinet members will also be attending events across the town whenever possible to become more visible and approachable to everyone.
